Kate Davies - Biography

Kate was brought up in Guernsey and benefitted from a wonderfully active Music Service and some inspirational teachers. She was awarded a place at the Royal College of Music to study flute, recorder and piano, following the London University BMus course. During that time, she saw the light, decided that teaching was the path to follow and so undertook a PGCE. Her first post was as Head of Department in a comprehensive school in Hounslow and was followed by a fourteen year stint as Director of Music at Arnold House School in St John's Wood. A move to the country followed and Kate is currently Director of Music and Head of Girls at Edgeborough Prep School near Farnham. She is passionate about the value of Music Education and has been Chair of Professional Development for the MMA (Music Teaching Professionals) for the past four years.
