

IAPS Swimming

We enjoyed an excellent afternoon's swimming at Stamford School for the IAPS National Swimming Qualifying Gala. I won't have any official times for a while (possibly the start of next term) but estimates from my stopwatch look promising. I think we had a number of personal bests and there may be a couple of school records that have been broken too.

There were several brilliant races which I must mention – the U12 and U13 girls' medley and freestyle relays looked convincing to say the least, swimming faster than they have done before. The U13 boys' relay team is the quickest we have seen in a while too, but the relay team of the afternoon was the U11 boys' who swam superbly in both the medley and freestyle relays, surpassing any previous performance. Well done team – it was a pleasure watching you compete.
